Barkley's Death Recalls His Visit Here Five Years Ago

THE DEATH OF BARKLEY a week ago today recalled to many the drama that was attached to his visit to Harrisburg five and a half years ago.

The vice president of the United States was coming to Harrisburg to make a political speech. The south porch of the court house was the place for the big event. A roof had been put over the porch as a precaution against bad weather and bunting was in abundance.

The date was Nov. 1, 1950.

He wasn't scheduled to speak until around 3 p. m. but the crowd started coming around 1:00 and a huge gathering was on hand listening to the preliminary part of the program before his arrival.

While the crowd was gathering here, news of import was happening elsewhere.

For at 1:15 p. m., Harrisburg time, two Puerto Rican revolutionists tried to shoot their way into Blair House, where President Truman was living, so that they could assassinate the President of the United States.

They were shot down before they could gain entrance to the home of the President.

About that time Vice President Barkley was alighting from an airplane at the Williamson county airport, to be brought to Harrisburg by automobile for the address.

The Daily Register had the story when Barkley came into town at 2:58 p. m. in an open car driven by Harry Ertion, then chairman of the Saline County Democratic Central committee.

Timmo had the press association story about the abortive attempt on Truman's life in his hand and gave it to the vice president before he got out of the car. That was the first news he had received about the incident.

Had the revolutionists succeeded in their plan, we would have had the new President of the United States right here in Harrisburg.

"It's a dastardly effort," Barkley commented after reading the news item. "I'm very happy it didn't succeed and I know the people are grateful it didn't happen. I hope that speedy justice results."

Then Barkley entered the north door of the court house, and went through the corridor to the south porch, where he was greeted by the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home."

Then Atty. D. F. Rumsey of Harrisburg introduced Rep. Paul Powell of Vienna, who in turn introduced U. S. Senator Scott Lucas. It was Sen. Lucas who introduced Vice President Barkley.

Barkley made his speech, after which he was greeted by hundreds of persons, many of whom he knew. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Childers of West Frankfort, who were married by him when he was a Kentucky county judge back in 1911. They had their marriage license with them.

After the event, he was driven to the Harrisburg-Raleigh airport where his plane, an Ozark Airlines DC3, picked him up about 4:30 p. m. and flew him to his home in Paducah.

Thursday, after services at Paducah attended by the biggest of Democratic dignitaries including former President Truman, Adlai Stevenson, Estes Kefauver, Stuart Symington, Averill Harriman and others, he was laid to rest in a cemetery there — just an hour's drive from Harrisburg, where he might have become the President of the United States had the mission of the killers been fulfilled.

Ingram Hill Baptist Church Participates in Rural Program

Throughout the Southern Baptist conventions an effort is being made to promote every community where a Baptist church is located. This program is intended mostly for rural communities with a population of 2500 or less.

Included in this program is a church survey which would inquire how many people live in the community, the number of children in a family, how many are Christians, what churches they attend or prefer to attend, financial state of the community, and what can be done to improve relationship between the church, school, patrons and the community as a whole.

Along with the survey, several churches have taken on a project

Former Local Man Killed On Indiana Highway

Was Employed as Radio Announcer at Evansville Station

John W. Berry, 35, who was educated in Harrisburg and who formerly was employed by WEBQ, was killed in a crash in Indiana last night.

Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wirt Berry, suffered a broken neck when his small foreign-built automobile ran into a ditch seven and one-half miles east of Lynnville on Indiana Route 68 at 7:10 p. m. Sunday.

Indiana state police said they were informed that Berry's car had passed several others on the highway travelling west at a high rate of speed, swerved off the road and ran 198 feet down a ditch along the highway. Berry died instantly. The body was moved to the Pemberton funeral home at Lynnville.

Berry and his wife, Mary Lou, resided at 123 Southeast First street in Evansville, where he was a radio announcer at Station WIKY.

He started his radio work at WEBQ here in 1944 and was employed at the local station for about two years. He for several years was attached to WROY at Carmi before going to Evansville to join the staff of WGBF. A year ago he joined WIKY at Evansville and about a year ago he married the former Mary Lou Maddox, woman's editor of Station WJPS, Evansville.

His father for many years was employed as a teller at the Harrisburg National Bank. He and Mrs. Berry left Harrisburg a number of years ago to accept employment at the Moose lodge home at Mooseheart, Ill.

The Berry funeral will be Wednesday at 10 a. m. in Evansville, Ind., at the Greek Mortuary on Walnut street. Burial will be in Evansville.

His grandfather is James W. Berry of Harrisburg.

She was the daughter of Green Berry and Delilah Roe and lived all her life in Mitchellville and Harrisburg. Her death was due to infirmities of old age, being bedfast for the past three years.

She was a member of the Harrisburg congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, being an active Christian.

Mrs. Sisk leaves three children: Mrs. Glen (Gladys) Rutherford and Mrs. William (Elsie) Hackney, of Houston, Texas, and Mrs. Duncan (Sally) Felts, Mitchellville; three grandchildren: Mrs. Glenn Ruth Howard, Mrs. Helen Frances Jordan, William Sisk Hackney Jr., Houston, Texas; also two great grandchildren.

The body lies in state at the Turner funeral home where funeral services will be conducted at 10 a. m. Tuesday. O. E. Partain, minister, will conduct the service. Burial will be in the Cottage Grove cemetery. The family requests no flowers.

Project at Ingram Hill

Participating in this area is the Ingram Hill Baptist church where Rev. Robert Blackman is pastor. The church is now engaged in adding a new addition to the Ingram Hill cemetery and clearing the old one. The old Ingram Hill school house which stood next to the church has been moved away, trees are being cut down and the hillside landscaped. The projects must be finished by September which is the end of the church fiscal year. The community church survey will be conducted by Rev. Blackman

Storms Hit in East; Six Killed By Lightning

By United Press

A May cold wave slammed into the East today with gale winds and lightning bolts which killed at least five persons.

The lightning victims were Mrs. Estelle Rediker, about 45, her two sons and a daughter, and a maid. They died when a bolt set fire to their two-story mansion home at Deal, N. J., early today.

Lightning earlier killed a woman at Delhi, Ind., to bring the weather toll to six.

The eastern storm hit Pittsburgh, Pa., with the most violence. Electrical storms crackled over the Steel City, causing widespread damage.

Judge Dismisses Jury List for Trial at E-Town

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill. (U.P.)—Circuit Judge Ross C. Randolph has dismissed a list of prospective jurors drawn for the trial of a mother and her daughter accused of murdering another woman.

Randolph dismissed the list on grounds it was illegally drawn. The jury would have heard the trial of Mrs. June Davis and her daughter Betty, of Cave-in-Rock, who are accused of murdering Betty Joiner, 19, Hartford, Conn., on July 1, 1955, near Cave-in-Rock.

Miss Joiner died after she had a scuffle with Miss Davis and ran onto a highway where she collapsed and was struck by a car. At a coroner's inquest, Miss Davis admitted slapping Miss Joiner once after pulling her from the automobile of Glen McDowell, Miss Davis' boy friend.

A grand jury indicted the Davises on murder charges last September, ruling that they caused Miss Joiner's death by striking her on the head with an unknown blunt instrument. Their trial was set for May 14.

Randolph issued the dismissal on grounds that at least 10 per cent of the names were not women who are legal voters. The state law requires that the list contain at least 10 per cent of each sex.

Defense attorneys raised objections after the Hardin County Board drew up the list. The board will not draw up another jury list until September, and it is expected the Davises will be tried later in the fall.

Secure Ground to Widen Mill Street

The city of Harrisburg has secured from Mrs. Gertrude Mitsdaff enough ground to widen Mill street between Gaskins and Lincoln.

At present there is but narrow passageway, just wide enough for one vehicle.

The city obtained a strip of ground 12 1/2 feet wide of the west side of a lot owned by Mrs. Mitsdaff, which will enable the street department to improve the street.

Consideration for the necessary strip includes the removal of excess dirt from the lot by the city and to rebuild the sidewalk at the front. The Leon B. Stulley Construction Co., which is paving East Sloan street, will be able to use a considerable portion of the dirt in making a fill at the New York Central tracks and Sloan, it was stated at the last council meeting.

Johnson Wrests Control of Texas Delegation from Gov. Shivers

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—An important home state political victory insured today that Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson will wield a major and moderating influence at the Democratic National Convention.

Johnson's political stock surged as a result of the success his forces had Saturday in wresting control of the state Democratic delegation and its big 56-vote bloc from Gov. Allan Shivers. Shivers, a staunch states' rights advocate, refused to support the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee and helped swing Texas to President Eisenhower.

Johnson now is virtually assured of being named Texas' favorite son candidate for the presidential nomination, and his victory will lend new strength to supporters who want the full convention to accept him as a dark horse candidate in the event of a convention deadlock.

Heart Attack Victim

The Johnson bid is not considered serious, however, because, as a victim of a heart attack, his nomination would rob the Democrats of the health issue they plan to use against President Eisenhower.

But aside from the nomination contest, Johnson, as a result of his Texas victory, will be on hand to wield a moderating influence at the convention in efforts to select both a candidate and a platform acceptable to both North and South.

His Texas victory is no insurance against a southern bolt, but it will serve as a restraining factor.

Other political developments: Maryland Republicans and Democrats voted in primaries today. President Eisenhower was expected to win the state's 24 Republican national convention votes and Sen. Estes Kefauver the 18 Democratic votes.

Maryland Comeback Attempt

National interest in the Maryland primary also centered on an attempted political comeback by former Democratic Sen. Millard E. Tydings. Sen. John Marshall Butler, the man who defeated Tydings in 1950, was seeking re-nomination in the GOP primary.

Five other states will hold primaries Tuesday. They are Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Florida and New Mexico. The Florida primary features state races; its presidential preference vote does not come until May 29.

Surgeons Lighten Magician's Stomach

TEHERAN, Iran (U.P.)—Surgeons who operated on Cpl. Abol Fazl Einipour last week, after he complained of a stomach ache, said he is now 16 pounds lighter.

They removed from his stomach 24 nail clippers, 12 large penknives, four long knife blades, 13 pieces of broken glass, 19 pieces of metal chain, two shoe nails, two watch bands, two nuts and bolts, one thin metal bar, and one teaspoon.

Einipour said he was a magician for 19 years, and liked to impress his audiences by swallowing his props.

Sniper Fires Into Church Crowd; 1 Dead, 5 Hurt

NEW YORK (U.P.)—The chief suspect in the sniper shooting Saturday which killed a church warden and wounded five other persons surrendered to authorities today.

Tony Tudorache, 60, a former employee of the Romanian Orthodox Church of St. Dumitru where the shootings occurred, came voluntarily to the district attorney's office and told a detective: "I understand I'm wanted for questioning."

He was immediately taken to an interrogation room to be asked about the shootings which some investigators believed was an apparent attempt to assassinate former Romanian Princess Ileana, sister of the late King Carol.

Princess Ileana narrowly missed being struck by the bullets which scattered a crowd of 400 worshippers as they gathered Saturday for a midnight candlelight procession at the church.

Police said the shots were fired from Tudorache's room, located diagonally opposite the church.

Vasili Cucui, 86, a churchwarden preparing an outside altar, fell mortally wounded in the chest. He died before a priest could give him the last rites of the church.

Ileana was walking behind the pastor when the sniper fired. Police said if they had taken a few more steps, they would have been directly in the gunman's line of fire.

Drownings claimed eight of the victims. Five persons, including four children, drowned when a motorboat capsized in a small farm pool at Willett, Pa. At Horseshoe Lake, Ark., three persons drowned when a houseboat sprang a leak and sank.

Near Lyons, Kan., a head-on auto crash wiped out five lives.

Two children saved their own lives in the Willett tragedy by clinging to the overturned boat in the darkness for nearly three hours Saturday night.

The setting was set for death when Eugene Fairman, 32, took his two children and four young relatives aboard his motorboat to test a new outboard motor.

The flat-bottomed boat, apparently overloaded, flipped over. Fairman, his son, Donald, 9, and Bobby Burns, 17, and his sisters, Edna Mae, 13, and Charlene, 8, drowned.

Fairman's daughter, Connie, 6, and 11-year-old Ernest Burns hung on to the boat. They stayed above water until Mrs. Fairman came to the water's edge to see why the group had not returned.

The mother ran for help and three neighbors got the surviving children to shore a short time later.

Submits Good Progress Report To Congress

President Renews
Plea for Long-
Range Commitments

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—President Eisenhower told Congress today that the United States shipped 900 million dollars worth of military supplies to free world partners in Europe and the Far East during the last half of 1955.

In a "good progress" foreign aid report on the last half of 1955, Mr. Eisenhower said Allied forces being bolstered by U. S. aid are equivalent to more than 200 divisions, over 2,000 naval ships and about 300 air squadrons as well as related supporting units.

Looking ahead, the President said Moscow's shift in tactics from threats and violence to more subtle methods of expanding Red influence would "require greater flexibility and continuity" in the nation's foreign aid program.

Despite strong congressional opposition, the President renewed his plea for some authority from Congress to make "comparatively long-range commitments" in foreign aid.

The report stressed that Europe's defenses were bulwarked during the last half of 1955 by delivery of the very latest types of weapons and planes stationed there. He said the Niki Corporal, Honest John and Matador missiles—all with atomic capability—were sent to Europe "in increasing quantities."

The President said the United States plans to provide its North Atlantic Treaty partners with certain types of modern weapons now being furnished American forces.

During the last six months of 1955, Mr. Eisenhower said approximately 900 million dollars worth of arms and supplies were shipped to member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty, the South East Asian Treaty Organization, and the Baghdad Pact. Other substantial deliveries went to Nationalist China and Korea.

Since the beginning of the military aid program in October, 1949, Mr. Eisenhower said the United States has shipped over $12,400,000,000 of arms to free world countries.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Benson Originally Didn't Want Soil Bank; Now He Wants It. But With Republican Label On It; Democrats Wanted To Modernize The Old Henry Wallace Soil Bank.

WASHINGTON. — The back-stage maneuvering over a farm bill has been happening with such lightning speed that the press, let alone the public, can't keep up with it. Seldom, however, has politics been so wrapped up in any legislation, even in an election year.

With dire reports coming from the farm belt following Ike's veto of the farm bill, the Republicans were almost frantic in their desire to pass something to put immediate cash in the farmer's pocket. Secretary of Agriculture Benson was also frantic in his desire to get credit for the soil bank.

Appearing before the House Agriculture committee, Benson was asked by Chairman Harold Cooley, North Carolina Democrat:

"Mr. Secretary, you have presented something you call the soil bank. But you overlook the fact that in 1934 we spent $637,000,000 starting to build up the soil of this country. And from that year on, we continued to build up the soil. Every year that you've been in office, however, you have asked us for less and less money for soil. You asked us last year for $175,000,000 and we voted you $250,000,000.

"And now suddenly you want what you call a soil bank.

"I remember last February," continued Cooley, "I wrote you a letter asking you in detail about setting aside an acreage reserve in the form of a soil bank. And you kept my letter from February until July. Then, after conferring with all your assistants, you finally answered that it was too expensive and impractical.

PRE-ELECTION BONUS

"Now, can you tell me today," concluded Cooley, "one authority you need for a soil bank that you don't already have in the bill passed 20 years ago by the Democrats?"

Benson turned to his lawyers for advice. Before they could answer, Cooley continued:

"I can think of two—authority to make long-term contracts with farmers and authority to protect the future basic allotments of farmers.

"All right," said Cooley, "you send me in writing the authority you need and we'll pass it."

Benson, however, didn't warm up to the idea at all. He wanted a brand new bill. The White House also asked for authority to make advance payments to farmers out of the soil-bank program to the tune of $500,000,000.

This pre-election bonus outraged Democratic leaders in general and Congressman Jamie Whitten of Mississippi in particular.

"If a Democratic president were to recommend paying the farmer part of his 1957 income in 1956, just before the November election, as Eisenhower has recommended," observed Whitten, "the press would carry big headlines accusing the Democrats of trying to borrow the farm vote—which incidentally would be borrowing it with the farmer's own money loaned against his own next year's depleted income."

BRANNAN PLAN

His dander up, Whitten called his Appropriations subcommittee and ok'd a $1,200,000,000 appropriation based on the old Henry Wallace soil bank bill which had been on the statute books for 20 years. This would have given an immediate payment instead of borrowing against the future.

The House Rules committee, however, rejected the appropriation on the ground that the Henry Wallace law needed amendments.

By this time Cooley had gone back to North Carolina where he faces a tough primary battle on the race issue, due to the fact that he refused to sign the "Southern Manifesto" against the Supreme Court. Reached on the telephone, Cooley dictated a 29-line amendment to the Henry Wallace soil bank law which brought it completely up to date.

Republicans, however, refused to accept it. Even Republicans from the farm belt who had voted for the first farm bill said no. What they wanted was not a modernized, revamped Democratic bill, but a new bill bearing the trade mark of Benson and Eisenhower.

After counting noses, the Democratic high command figured it was short 20 House Republicans necessary to pass the Whitten-Cooley soil plan.

So overnight, Cooley proposed a modified Brannan plan with a subsidy to farmers.

"If you want to put money in the farmers' pocket," he told Republicans, "let's do it outright without any subterfuge. Let's not borrow from their next year's income."

"You already have a Brannan plan for wool, a crop chiefly raised by the big Republican sheepmen of Utah and Wyoming," argued Cooley. "And Benson is supporting sugar at 98 per cent of parity—a crop highly important to his state of Utah. So let's be fair and vote the Brannan plan for other crops."

There were howls of protest from Republicans, however, and the modified Brannan plan was dropped.

Thus jockeyed political leaders back and forth in an effort to win the farm vote.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Roberta Regan, wife of the ex-congressman from Texas, came back to green and springlike Washington to tell friends about dust storms. "On Friday, Lubbock comes blowing by," she said. "The next day El Paso blows by. We figure Albuquerque will be next!"

Bill Doherty, head of the Letter Carriers, got a personal call from Vice President Joao Goulart of Brazil, whom he had met in Rio De Janeiro last winter. Vice President Goulart is head of the Brazilian Labor party.

"If Nixon talked about labor in the U. S. A. the way he did in Brazil," observed letterman Doherty, "He would be in like Flynn." Nixon made a vigorous pro-labor speech in Rio when the Labor-Social Democratic government of Brazil took office.

Gynelle Sirles, Truman Maxfield Wed in Little Chapel of Presbyterian Church

Gynelle Sirles and Truman Maxfield of this city were married April 28 at 3 p. m. in the Little Chapel of the First Presbyterian church.

The double ring ceremony, attended by relatives and close friends, was performed by Rev. William Burroughs.

The altar was beautifully decorated with white mums and pom-poms with candelabra lighting the altar and making the ceremony an impressive one.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Oral Stanley, and chose for her wedding a white linen street ensemble with powder blue accessories and carried a white prayer book adorned with white streamers and an orchid.

Mrs. Joan Roe, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a rose two piece with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Jerry Maxfield, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where the traditional wedding cake was cut and served to close friends and relatives.

The couple left immediately for a short trip after which they will make their home in Chicago where the bridegroom is employed.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stanley and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Byrd Maxfield, all of this city.

The destroyer escort, the Eaton,

Yankees Blank White Sox Twice, Both 4-0; Reds Win Two; Cardinals Split

By United Press

The New York Yankees are up to an old trick that pays off in pennants — they're knocking off the key contenders themselves.

The Yankees, who claim they started the "do it yourself" fad 20 years ago, showed the season's largest crowd Sunday why they're the perennial American League champions by handing the Chicago White Sox a pair of 4-0 setbacks.

In the process, the Yankees extended their first-place lead to 2½ games and the White Sox' string of scoreless innings to 20.

Ed (Whitey) Ford breezed to his fourth straight victory with an eight hit in the first game and then southpaw Rip Coleman and veteran relief specialist Jim Konstanty collaborated in another eight-hit performance in the nightcap. The shutouts were the first by Yankee pitchers this year.

Yogi Berra hit his eighth homer and Hank Bauer his sixth to spark the Yankees' 12-hit attack in the first game while shortstop Gil McDougald walked a key second-inning triple in the second game. Jack Harshman and Harry Byrd suffered the defeats for the White Sox, who have lost five of their last six games to drop back to the .500-mark.

The Kansas City Athletics pounded out 29 hits to beat the Washington Senators, 10-7 and 13-3, and the Baltimore Orioles downed the Detroit Tigers, 6-2 and 4-3, in other A. L. games. Cleveland at Boston was rained out.

Harry Simpson drove in four runs with a homer and triple to lead the Athletics' 13-hit attack in the opener while Gus Zernial hit two homers and Johnny Groth and Hector Lopez one each in the nightcap. Relief pitchers Bill Harrington and Ed Butschy picked up the decisions.

Relief pitcher George Zuverink finished both games for the Orioles, whose double win dropped the Tigers into the cellar. Gus Triandos' three-run homer was the big blow for the Orioles in the first game and an error by shortstop Harvey Kuenn led to their winning run in the second game.

In the National League, those hard-hitting Cincinnati Redlegs climbed to within 20 points of first place when they clubbed the Philadelphia Phillies, 10-2 and 11-9.

The Redlegs hit five round-trippers Sunday. Ted Kluszewski and Gus Bell homering in each game and Frank Robinson walloping a homer, triple and double in the first game. The hapless Phillies now have dropped five straight and nine of their last 11.

Dusty Rhodes singled home the winning run in the ninth inning as the New York Giants scored a 5-4 victory after Stan Musial's eighth inning homer won the opener for the St. Louis Cardinals by the same score. Ron Kline pitched a six-hitter to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 2-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs and the teams played a 6-6 tie in a second game halted after seven innings by darkness. Brooklyn at Milwaukee was rained out.

Cardinals Trade Hurler Luis Arroyo For Max Surkont

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals today traded pitcher Luis Arroyo, a 1955 All-Star game selection, to the Pittsburgh Pirates for veteran right-hander Max Surkont.

Arroyo, Puerto Rican southpaw, had been optioned to Omaha after failing to show his old form in spring training. He won 11 games by July 17 last year but finished the season with an 11-8 record.

Surkont will be returning to the organization with which he signed his first professional contract in July, 1937.

He later was drafted by the Chicago White Sox, traded to the Boston Braves and sent to Pittsburgh by Milwaukee after the Braves' franchise was shifted. His major league record is 59-73.

Neither of the pitchers has a major league record this season.

HTHS Wins District Tennis Meet

Harrisburg won the district tennis meet at Murphysboro Saturday and is eligible to participate in the state prep finals at Champaign May 18.

Charles Cummins beat Hollenbrock of Murphysboro for the singles championship and Bottomley and McGowan beat a Carbondale team for the championship of the doubles.

Bottomley and McGowan had to face another Harrisburg team, Hays and Pfister, in the semifinals.

Points in the district were: Harrisburg 9, Carbondale 4 and Murphysboro 3.

Orsborn Named Bradley's Head Basketball Coach

PEORIA (AP)—Chuck Orsborn, Bradley university freshman basketball coach, has been named head coach to succeed Bob Vanatta.

John (Dutch) Meinen, chairman of the physical education department at Bradley, was named to fill the athletic director's position also vacated by Vanatta.

Vanatta announced his resignation Saturday to accept a job as basketball coach at Memphis (Tenn.) State College.

Meinen has been a coach at Bradley for 25 years.

Orsborn played with the "famous five" Bradley teams which went to the National Invitational Tournaments at New York in 1938 and 1939.

Legion-Stars Win 4-0 Tilt

Stellar hurling and fine defensive play enabled the Harrisburg Legion-Stars to down a hustling McLeansboro baseball team by a 4 to 0 score Sunday afternoon at the new field near the fairgrounds.

Don Wallace and Bill McNew supplied the pitching while their teammates gave them good support afield. Wallace allowed only one safety, a single, in his five inning turn on the rubber. McNew was touched for three hits in the final four frames two of which were of the infield variety but "Big Mac" turned back nine of the visitors by strikeouts in those last four innings.

The locals scored once in the first when Smith was safe on the third baseman's muff of his grounder. Singles by Ziegler and Karnes pushed Smith around with the run. Ray Sisky was hit by a pitched ball to start the second inning and scored when Wallace rifled a single to right which got away from the right fielder allowing Wallace to race around with the second run of the inning. That was all the scoring until the eighth when back to back doubles by Jim Parton and Frank Logsdon netted the winners their final marker. Harold Gulley picked up the only other hit allowed by Jim Deen, a hard throwing right hander who mixed a variety of curve balls with some fast pitches. Deen went the route for the Pirates and his battery mate was Hall. Floyd Vinyard and Dick Romonosky shared the catching chores for the locals.

Next Sunday the locals travel to Carterville to meet Oscar Horsley's Stars.

Huskies Placed On Probation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Officials at University of Washington co-operated in furnishing some of the evidence that finally resulted in Husky athletics being placed on a two-year probation by the Pacific Coast conference and given the equivalent of a $53,000 fine.

Commissioner Victor O. Schmidt said today that he failed to get any cooperation, however, out of the Greater Washington Advertising Fund — the so-called "slush fund" that helped pay salaries to athletes at the school.

Ingram Hill Church In Rural Program

and Rev. Floyd Lacy, Saline County Baptist missionary, with the help of the members of the church.

The Ingram Hill Baptist church was organized in March of 1886 at the Ingram Hill school house which at that time stood across the road from the recent one. Services were held in the school house and the homes for 17 years.

Ground Purchased in 1888

Knox Trovillion was the first pastor. He came once a month to hold services. He was also pastor of the church's neighbor, Walnut Grove. There were 16 charter members and eleven who joined soon after. Less than two years later, January 1888, the trustees of the church, W. A. Ingram, John W. Ingram and Alexander Monroe, were authorized to buy three acres of ground from the Wills' heirs, the property being located on the top of the hill where the church and cemetery are now. The price for the ground was $62.50.

At that time Ingram Hill took in the territory of Pankeyville, being divided into two school districts, East Ingram and West Ingram. Funds for the new church were solicited by the church trustees. In 1903 the church house was built by Elder Andrew J. Yates, who was pastor at that time and also a carpenter, and R. S. Sisk, at a total cost of $756.36.

In March of 1904 the new church was dedicated. The dedication sermon was given by Elder Blackman. At the close of the sermon he stated that there remained $35 to be paid for the building. This was very soon made good, and the church was dedicated debt-free.

Three Ordained to Preach

Many of the church's records have been destroyed or lost, and there are nearly thirty years at various times during the church's existence, for which no written records can be found.

The church has ordained three men to preach the gospel, Owen Foster, Kenneth Hall and Ray Tison, and the following deacons: Alexander Monroe, John Ingram, George Sherfield, Elmer Pelhank, Edgar Sisk, Joseph I. Smith, Roscoe Johnson, Irvin Webb and Victor Hall.

In 1905 it was voted to organize a "Sabbath School" now known as Sunday school. But in the winter months the school seemed to "die out" and was eventually discontinued. In 1910 George Sherfield made a talk relating the proceedings of the Big Saline Association and expressed a desire for a Sabbath School. The church immediately elected officers with Mr. Sherfield as superintendent.

Organizations in the church at the present time include the Women's Missionary Union, Young Women's Auxiliary, Girls' Auxiliary, Royal Ambassadors and Sunbeams.

Carrier Mills Homemaking Students Present Second Annual Style Show

The Homemaking department of Carrier Mills Community high school gave its second annual style show in an assembly program Wednesday, May 2, under the direction of Mrs. Harold James.

Special guests invited other than the high school students and faculty were the eighth grade girls from Carrier Mills grade school, Stonefort, Duncan, New Castle, Holmes, and Lakeview.

The girls of the Homemaking classes modeled the clothing they had made during the year in class room work and as home project work. Those girls participating in the style show were:

Beverly Parks, Loralea Taylor, Carlene Winters, Patty Ann Speer, Alice Thomas, Jean Reynolds, Sharon Hooen, Betty Brandon, Shirley Williams, Lenora Martin, Barbara English, Nancy Wilkins, Dolores Duvall, Lenora Chavis, Shirley Parton, Mildred Rodgers, Beverly Adams, Sharon Russell, Sandra Allen, Ruth Craig, Carolyn Parks, Rose Wilkins, Nina Black, Brenda Pyle, Geraldine Fitts, Dixie Milburn.

Peggy Tolbert, a Family Living student, played a medley of musical numbers while the girls modeled their garments. The stage was appropriately decorated with spring flowers.

Reda Williams, Future Homemakers of America president, explained the meaning of F. H. A., some of their activities, and introduced the officers, both new and old. Several F. H. A. girls participated in an F. H. A. symbol service.

The Family Living class presented a skit which they prepared on teen-age manners. — "Are You in the Know?"

Warren G. Jennings, principal of C. M. C. H. S., talked on the "Importance of Homemaking in the High School Curriculum," and also outlined the Homemaking courses available to students.

Eden Orders Full Probe of Death
Of Top 'Frogman'

LONDON — Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden has ordered a full report on the bizarre death of Cmdr. Lionell Crabb, Britain's top "frogman," a London newspaper reported today.

Crabb disappeared while carrying out an underwater mission near the Soviet cruiser that brought Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev to Britain last month. The big question was who ordered Crabb on the mission.

Government officials also were reported upset over rumors that could have international repercussions.

The rumors ranged from one that he was caught snooping by the Russians and killed to another that he was captured by Russian frogmen and is now a prisoner in Russia.

The Russians admitted over the weekend that they had seen a frogman surface near the cruiser but they gave no further details.
